P R E F A C E

I HAVE been requested by one or two members of my family to bring out a new edition of my father's little Family Book, of which the last was printed in the year 1886. In this new edition I have slightly altered the plan, and have also added as many dates as possible, as they always seem to me to be of interest, especially when, as time goes on, one person after another falls out from the ranks.

The Maude family is apparently a very ancient one, and, according to a certain John de Prestwich, whose manuscript account of the family, entitled "Montaltiensia," was written about the year 1784, had its origin in the times of the Sabines !

For the benefit of those who are interested in such matters I transcribe, almost in extenso, the account of the family to be found in Lodge's "Peerage of Ireland 1789."

The name Maude "hath been variously written as Monte-Alto, Montalt, Moald or Mon-thaut, Montalta, Monhault, Munthalt, Mawde or Maude. From the Lords of Monte-Alto, in Italy, Eustace de Montalto or Montalt is said to have descended; he came into Britain during the reign of William the Conqueror, at the instance of Hugh Lupus (or the Wolf), nephew to K. William, and by him created Earl of the county of Chester. This Earl Hugh (says our MS.) was son of Richard, Viscount of Aurenges in Normandy (by Margaret his wife, half-sister by the mother to K. William), and to him and his heirs the said King gave the Earldom of Chester, to hold as freely of him, by the sword, as he, the said William, held England by the crown; and the said Earl thereupon promised to this Eustace that all such lands that he should conquer of his enemies, the Welsh, should be his reward, save only that he should acknowledge him as his chief, and should hold of him, the said Earl, those lands he subdued, in like manner as those which he held of the King, his superior lord. In this expedition he was attended by a chosen band of soldiers, and having joined his forces with the Earl's, they subdued the greater part of the county of Flint; for these services he was rewarded with divers grants of lands (as appears by Doomsday-Book); he was also constituted, by the Earl, Steward of the County Palatine of Chester, and one of his eight Temporal Barons. Hugh Lupus, who was advanced to the Earldom of Chester in 1070, created eight Temporal Barons to assist him in his councils; three lists of these Barons have come before us, which we shall here present to our readers:—

- Nigel, Baron of Halton.
- Robert, Baron of Montalt.
- William Malbedeng, Baron of Nantwich.
- Vernon, Baron of Shipbrooke.
- Fitz-Hugh, Baron of Malpas.
- Hamon de Massie, Baron of ———
- Venables, Baron of Kinderton.
- Nicholas, Baron of Stockport.

- Robert Fitz-Hugh, Baron of Malpas.
- Richard de Vernon, Baron of Shipbrooke.
- William Malbanc, Baron of Nampwich.
- William Fitz-Nigell, Baron of Halton.

Hamo de Masey, Baron of Dunham.

Gilbert de Venables, Baron of Kilberton.

Hugh, son of Norman, Baron of Hawarden.

Nicholas de Stockport, Baron of Stockport.

Eustace, Baron of Mounte-Alto, and of Hawarden, Steward to the Earl.

Nigellus, Baron of Halton, and Constable of Chester.

William Malbanck, Baron of Wick-Malbanck.

David Malpas, Baron of Malpas, and Clerk to the Earl of Chester.

Hamon Massey, Baron of Dunham-Massey.

Warren Vernon, Baron of Shipbrook.

William Venables, Baron of Kinderton.

Robert Stockport, Baron of Stockport.

“To these grants the Conqueror added considerably. It may be proper to observe here that this Eustace is styled in several Latin and English deeds Normannus alias Normannus le Hunter, Eustace de Montalto, Eustace the Norman, the Norman Hunter, etc. By the latter appellation he is known in the following deed, which has been preserved in an old Chronicle in the library of Richmond Palace :—

‘I William, King, the third yeare of my raigne

Give to the NORMAN HUNTER, to me that art both life and deere

The HOP and HOPTON, and all the bounds up and down

Under the earth to Hell, above the earth to Heaven.

Anne Isabella, Viscountess Howard.

" Hawarden Castle, about five miles south-west of Chester, situate near the sea, and now in ruins ; and that of Montalt or Mold, situate in the Vale of Montalt or Mouldes-Vale, five miles south of Flint, were also possessed by this family.

" The issue of this Eustace were five sons, viz. Hugh and Roger, successive Barons of Hawarden, who left no issue ; Radulphus or Ralph, Sewer to the Earl of Chester ; Ranulph, who also exercised that office ; and Peter, Seneschal of Chester, of whom we find no issue. Hugh, the elder son (being at that time Steward, and one of the Barons to Earl Hugh), gave the lands of Gosetee and Lantrene to the Monks of the Abbey of Chester (at the time of its foundation), to which grant his brothers Roger and Ralph were witnesses ; which Ralph joined his brother in a further grant to this abbey, viz. all their right in Lostoek and the church of Cotintune, with the glebes and tithes thereunto belonging.

“ After the death of Hugh Lupus, Earl Richard, his son, granted to the church or abbey of St Werburgh the land of Wilfricus, to which grant this Ralph was a witness. He left issue two sons—Robert his heir, and Simon, of the county of York; also a daughter, Beatrix, who married William, son of David Malpas.

“ Robert, the elder son, assumed the surname of Montalt, from a little hill in the county of Flint, then known by this name, but since corrupted into that of Moulde, and on this eminence he erected the Castle of Montalt. He was a witness to the grant made to the Abbey of Chester of the lands of Uptwud by Ranulph de Gernons, Earl of Chester, and nephew to Earl Hugh; and after the death of the said Earl, the lands of that great Earldom were for some time in the King’s hands. 6 K. Henry II. we find this Robert de Montalt one of those who accounted to the King’s Exchequer for the farm of them, and likewise for what was then laid out in building the castle of Chester. This Robert is presumed to have married Emma, second daughter of Sir Robert Delaval of Seaton Delaval, Knight, by Anna, daughter of Sir Robert D'Arcy, and the issue of this marriage were five sons, viz. Robert, his heir; Ralph (who granted to the abbey of St Werburgh the church of Neston, part of the portion of his mother, for the health of the souls of his father and mother, and died without issue by his wife Matilda); Matthew, who left a son John; Roger; and William, who was Parson of Neston 19 K. Henry II.

“ Robert, the eldest son, made a grant to the abbey of St Werburgh of the church of St Mary de Bruer; and by his wife Leucha left issue three sons, viz. John (who by his wife Ellin was father of Elizabeth, who lived 12 Edward II. and of Sir Adam Montalt, Knight, who, says the pedigree, was very instrumental in saving the life of K. Henry III. at the battle of Evesham¹); Roger, who continued the line; and Ralph, Parson of Kirk, in Wyrall, 54 Henry III.

“ Roger was Seneschal of Chester, and confirmed to Thomas, then Abbot of Chester, two oxgangs of land in the townland of Neston, with the patronage of the church of Neston, and also the towns of Goostree and Lawton. In his time there was much hostility between the English and the Welsh. David, the son of Lewelyn, Prince of Wales, invaded his lands at Montalt; but on the accord, made 25 Henry III. between K. Henry and the said David, amongst other articles then agreed on, one was for the restitution of these lands of Montalt to the said Roger. In the year following K. Henry III. made him Governor of the castle there, in the room of John le Strange, Justice of Chester; 28 of that reign, the said David ap Lewelyn again breaking out, this Roger was sent with the Earls of Gloucester and Hereford to put an end to the rebellion, which being effected (with great slaughter to the Welsh), the King made restitution to Roger of both the castle and manor of Montalt, but with this condition—that he should, upon reasonable summons, appear before him with the said David, Prince of Wales, and if it then could not be made evident that his grandfather or father had wholly quitted their claim therein to the father or grandfather of the said David, he, Roger, should thenceforth for ever enjoy it quietly. Upon which restitution the grant formerly made of this castle and manor to K. Henry was annulled and made void, 34 of same reign, being reputed one of the greatest Barons of the realm of England, and being signed with the cross previous to an expedition to the Holy Land, then resolved on by several persons of honour, and divers of the Bishops, in order to assist the King of France against the Infidels; he passed great part of his woods and revenues which he held in Coventry, in right of his wife, to the Monks of that place, in consideration of a large sum of money then received from them to fit him for that journey. Some years after this, viz. 42 Henry III., upon another insurrection of the Welsh by Lewelyn ap Gryffith, he had summons, amongst others, to attend the King at Chester, on Monday preceding the feast of St John Baptist, well fitted with horse and arms, to restrain their incursions; and two years after he received command, with others of the Barons-Marchers, to repair to those parts and there reside for the defence of the country against the like attempts ; but in this year he died, and having married Cecilia, second sister and co-heir to Hugh de Albini, Earl of Arundel, left issue by her (who survived him, and had livery of the lands of her own inheritance) four sons and two daughters, viz. John and Robert, of whom presently ; Hugh, whose line ended in a great-grand-daughter Godith, who married —— Glegg ; William ; daughter, Leucha, married to Philip de Orreby, the younger, by whom she had Agnes, who married Walkelyne Arderne.

“ John, the eldest son, married first Elene, widow of Robert de Stockport, and secondly, Milicent, daughter of William de Cantilupe, and dying without issue, “ Robert, his brother, succeeded, who by his wife Johanna had issue two sons, Roger and Robert, and a daughter, Isabella, who married —— Morley, and by him had a son, Robert, who, by inquisition taken 4 Edward III., was found heir to his uncle, Robert de Montalt.

“ Roger, the eldest, engaged in that rebellion of the Barons against the King, 51 Henry III., but on returning to his duty, and thereupon undertaking to defend the town of Cambridge against such Barons as then stood out, he was again admitted to favour. 22 Edward I. we find him in the expedition made into Gascoigne, and in the following year he had a summons to Parliament as a Baron of the realm of England. He married Julien, daughter of Roger de Clifford, and dying 25 Edward I. without issue, left his brother Robert, then aged twenty-seven years, his heir; which Robert then did homage, and had livery of his lands, and the same year was in the expedition then made into Gascoigne ; 26 of that King, we find him in the Scottish wars ; 29 and 31 of same King, and 4, 7, and 8 of King Edward II., he had summons, amongst others, to meet the King at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, on the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin, to restrain the incursions of the Scots ; 10 Edward II. he was in another expedition to Scotland, as he was 19 of that King, in the wars of Gascoigne. In 1 Edward III., having no issue by Emma his wife (who survived him), he passed all his estates, for want of issue male by his said wife, to Isabel, Queen of England (mother to K. Edward III.), for life, remainder to John of Eltham, brother to the King, and his heirs for ever: and having been summoned to Parliament from 28 Edward I. till 3 Edward III. departed this life in same year, and was buried in the conventional church of Shuldharn, in the county of Norfolk.

“The elder branch thus becoming extinct, we shall now return to Simon de Montalt, second son of Ralph, and grandson of the Norman, who was styled of the county of York, and left a son Richard, which Richard was also styled Lord of Riddlesden-Morton, Potter-Newton, Barnaby upon Donne, and other lands; he had a son, Simon, who was father of seven daughters, the younger of whom, Elizabeth, married Robert Paslew, Master of the Rolls, but the said Simon having no male issue, and dying, as we presume, before his father, the aforesaid Richard, gave or granted to his cousin, Robert Montalt, or rather Roger, the lands of West-Riddlesden, in Yorkshire. He accordingly possessed himself of that estate, and left a son, Thomas of West-Riddlesden, the father of Constantine, who married a daughter of — Kighley of New Hall, in that county, and had issue—

“ Arthur, his heir, who married a daughter of Laurence Townley, and by her had Agnes, who married Stephen Paslew of Rawdon, in the county of York ; and a son and successor, “ Thomas, who took to wife Catherine, daughter of Roger Tempest of Broughton, and had issue three sons and three daughters, viz.

“ Arthur, living in 1585, who married Jane, daughter of Anthony Eltofts of Farnel, in Craven, Esq., and had issue four daughters, viz. Agnes (married to John Barstow, of Norbridge); Jane or Isabel (to Thomas Wade of the parish of Addingham); Margaret; and Mary.

“ Thomas, who died without issue, and “ Christopher, of whom hereafter.

“ The daughters were, Anne (married to Thomas Hall of Shipden), Margaret (to Thomas Tempest of Yellowsome); and Isabel, to Robert Bayldon of Bayldon.

“ Christopher, the younger son, was father of Thomas, who was living in 1600, and left issue a son, Robert of Ryddlesden, and of Rippon, in the county of York, who sold those estates, came into Ireland, and purchased others in the counties of Kilkenny and Tipperary. He resided chiefly at Dundrum, in the latter of these counties, was elected to Parliament for Inistioge, in county of Kilkenny, in 1639, and married Frances, fourth daughter of Sir Christopher Wandesford, Bart. He died 21st April 1685, and his wife deceasing 5th January 1690, she was interred on the following day in St Mary's Church, Kilkenny, under a handsome monument of veined marble, with this inscription :

This Monument was erected
to the memory
Of the several following persons
Of the family of Maude,
Who are interred in this place :
viz.
Colonel Robert Maude,
Formerly of Rippon in Yorkshire,
Late of Dundrum, in the county of Tipperary,
Who died Anno Dni 1684.¹
Frances his wife,

(Of the name and house of Wandesford),
Anthony, their only son,
And Anne, their youngest daughter.
This Lady,
Who lived unmarried,
And died in the 58th year of her age,
Anno Dni 1703,
By her last will did appoint her executors
To raise this monument,
To distinguish and adorn
The burying-place of her family.

“ The issue of this marriage were two daughters, one of whom became the wife of Stephen Wilkes, Esq., and an only son, “ Anthony, who served in Parliament for the borough of Knocktopher in 1692, and for Cashel in 1695; married first in November, 1666, Mary, daughter of —— Charlton, Esq., and secondly, 20th February 1671, Alice, eldest daughter of Standish Hartstonge, of Bruff, in the county of Limerick, Esq. (after created a Baronet); by her he had issue, Robert, his heir; and a daughter, Anne, married first to Jerome Ryves, Dean of St Patrick’s (by whom she had a daughter Anne, married to the late Thomas le Hunte, Esq.), and secondly to Sylvester Cross, Esq., but by him she had no issue.

“ Robert, the only son, succeeded at Dundrum, and was chosen to Parliament for the borough of Gowran, in the county of Kilkenny, in 1703; also for St Canice, in the same county, in 1713. He was re-elected in 1715 for St Canice, and in 1727 was chosen for Bangor. 9th May 1705, he was created a Baronet by patent, and in January 1718 married Elizabeth, daughter and heir to Francis Cornwallis, of Acton, in Middlesex, Esq.; he died 4th August 1750, and was interred at St Anne’s, Dublin, having had issue five sons and three daughters, viz. Anthony and William, who died young; Robert, baptized 17th October 1725, died unmarried 9th December 1746; Sir Thomas, who succeeded; Cornwallis, of whom hereafter; daughter Elizabeth, died young; Emma, married 22nd October 1751 to Major Charlton Leighton; and Alice, baptized 5th August 1724, and married to Stephen Moore (son of Thomas), of Marlefield, in Tipperary, Esq.

“ Sir Thomas, the second Baronet, was elected to Parliament for the county of Tipperary in 1761, and made a Governor of that county in June

Pel. Recd. C.

Thomas Pelham, 2nd Viscount Hawarden.
B. 1767. D. 1807.

1770 ; was advanced to the Peerage by Privy Seal 8th June 1776, and patent 18th July following, by the title of Baron de Montalt, of Hovenden, in the county of Tipperary, and dying 17th May 1777, unmarried, the title of Baron became extinct, but that of Baronet devolved on his brother,

“Sir Cornwallis, who also succeeded to the family estate ; he was baptized 19th September 1729 ; was chosen to Parliament in 1783 for the borough of Roscommon, and was created Baron de Montalt by Privy Seal at St James’s 4th May 1785, and patent 29th June same year, and Viscount Hawarden, 1791. He died 1803.”

I will now quote from my father’s Preface to his edition of 1886 a few incidents that may be of interest to the family in general :—

“Two remarkable facts were communicated to me by my mother, who died in 1851, in her ninety-third year : first, that Jane Crow, heiress to Sir Sackville Crow, Bart., of Westmead, Carmarthenshire, when standing as sponsor for my great-uncle, Francis Cornwallis, said, ‘Take care of that child ; he shall be my husband.' Strange to say, this intention was actually carried out, as will be seen below, and the estate on their death became the property of his sister, Lady Maude, to whose memory the following lines are inscribed on a white marble slab in the chancel of Laugharne Church, Carmarthenshire :

This matron's wish, through all her lengthened days,
Was not to captivate, but merit praise ;
With liberal hand and sympathising heart
To aid pale Want, and blunt Affliction's dart ;
As oft withdrawing from the great and gay,
She sought the cot where meek misfortune lay,
And would have kept each generous deed unknown,
But mindful gratitude inspires this stone.

ELIZABETH LETITIA JANE VAUGHAN.

"Secondly, that my great-grandmother, Mrs Francis Cornwallis, married Dr Robinson, Bishop of London, after her seventieth year."

In addition to these facts I should like to mention the unusual experience of my aunt, Hon. Isabella Maude, daughter of First Viscount Hawarden, who, at the age of seventy years, received a proposal of marriage, which, however, she declined.

My father, the late Captain Francis Maude, used to amuse his friends by telling them that his grandfather was born in the reign of Charles II., about 200 years before the date at which he was speaking, the actual dates being as follows :—Sir Robert Maude (his grandfather) was born in 1676: his son, 1st Viscount Hawarden, 1729, and my father, the youngest of his nineteen children, in 1798. As my father lived until the year 1886, it will be seen that there was an interval of two centuries between these dates.

My father also used to relate that on the occasion of the coronation of George IV. in 1821 he acted as page to his elder brother, and that, when he was going through the streets in his page's suit of scarlet, he narrowly escaped from Queen Caroline's mob, who saw him and attempted to pursue him. Being, however, very light and active, he took to his heels and soon out-distanced them.

I have thought it of interest to reproduce

some miniatures of various members of the family; the originals of these are mostly in my possession, and the remainder have been kindly lent to me for that purpose by their owners.

GENEALOGICAL TABLE OF THE MAUDE FAMILY

NOTE.

THE figures at the head of the pages represent the generations in descent from Sir Robert Maude, 1st Baronet. I have endeavoured to make it easier to trace the actual Maude family by employing a different type, and further indicating the succeeding heads of the family by capital letters.
